

PRESCHOOL NEWS—JANUARY 14, 2008

Dear Preschool Parents,

Another week has passed by and we continue to delight in the growth and development of your children. They returned from Christmas break ready to be back and eager to learn. This is always my favorite time of year as your children begin to show they are turning the “corner on kindergarten”. They seem to do more, know more, and show more self confidence. It is such a joy to behold.

Center helpers begin this week. Please again remember that if you cannot make your scheduled time, just notify either Mary Lou or myself. There is no need for you to find a replacement. If you cannot remember your scheduled day, the calendar for January is posted right outside the classroom door.

Please note PM parents, there is a half day for all students this upcoming Friday, January 18th for a teacher in service, so there will be no PM preschool on this day.

Today, January 14th we will be celebrating Martin Luther King’s birthday. We have a lot of fun activities for center time that will hopefully plant a seed in your little ones’ brain about peace, brotherhood, and the knowledge that all people are created equal and in the likeness of God. Ask your child about our day.

Wednesday, we will do a quick review of all the letter people we have met thus far. I will spend time with each child to review the letters while our center helpers and Mary Lou engage them in other activities.

There are many winter activities here at St. Thomas to help us get through the winter, I encourage you to take advantage of these wonderful opportunities. Remember us while you are at the grocery store if you would, our cupboard is sparse. Remember library books and know you may return them any day of the week directly to our room and we will get them back. Remember that we go outside everyday so send appropriate outdoor wear. Remember that if your child has a fever, a real green runny nose, a constant cough, think twice before sending them to school. Remember that we’re all in this together and we’re having lots of fun. :)

Thanks for all you do and God Bless!

Betsy
